

Oceanport Roofer Marks a Decade Roofing the Jersey Shore

May 12, 2026

OCEANPORT, NJ, May 12, 2026 – Oceanport roofing contractor Oceanport Roofer, the NJ HIC-licensed, GAF-certified roofing company at 900 Oceanport Avenue, today marked ten consecutive years of fully insured residential and commercial roofing across Oceanport and the broader Monmouth County shoreline.

Founded in 2016 as a single-crew repair operation working the streets around Oceanport Avenue and Port-au-Peck, the company has grown into a multi-crew contractor dispatched from its Suite 200 headquarters. Median response inside the Oceanport borough limits now sits under two hours for active-leak calls, with outlying shore towns such as Keansburg, Union Beach, and Manalapan covered same-week. Every estimate is written and itemized before a single shingle is lifted.

Over the decade the firm's work has tracked the housing stock of the Two Rivers area – asphalt re-roofs on mid-century capes, standing-seam metal on newer coastal builds, and flat-membrane work on the small commercial strips along Route 35. All labor is performed by NJ HIC-licensed roofers carrying current state insurance, and the company has stayed GAF-certified throughout, qualifying customers for manufacturer-backed system warranties on full replacements.
